Brief Bio:

As the eldest daughter of a fairly large family, I am the only one of my siblings (so far) to attend college, and as a Gentile follower of a Jewish Messiah and Home School graduate, I have heard every horror story about colleges and professors who mock and ridicule everything I believe in. So on my first day at Gordon, I felt very nervous and alone. I didn't have a clue what to expect, and I didn't know if I could succeed or if I would just make a fool of myself.

I shouldn't have worried. God has blessed my experience at Gordon in an incredible way! I have had the privilege of having professors who are more kind, encouraging, and interesting than I could have ever imagined – and some with surprisingly similar worldviews. I absolutely LOVE college. I love learning and reading new things, and I have completely gotten over my terror of writing thanks to an amazing English 1101 professor (shout out to Dr. Corley!). I am well on my way to earning my BSN and hopefully I will be able to transfer elsewhere to go for my MSN. I have had a truly amazing experience at Gordon; one that I will never forget.

Oh yeah, and a lot of other nerds go here, so that's been awesome.
