Brief Bio:

I came to Gordon State in the fall of 2011. I am an English major and will graduate in the spring of 2016. During my time at Gordon State I have had countless opportunities that have helped shape the path I plan to take following graduation. I have served on the Honors Council, served as Vice President of Sigma Tau Delta, worked as a public relations assistant to Gordon State, been a writer for our college paper, worked as a Writing tutor for Gordon State's Student Success Center, completed an Editing internship for an Academic Journal, lived a month in Europe with Gordon State's Study Abroad program, and most recently I traveled to Selma, Alabama and spent a week working with the Freedom Foundation as part of the Alternate Spring Break program with Gordon State's Human Services department. I have also had opportunities to make presentations at two Honors conferences as well as at Gordon State's Undergraduate Symposium. Following graduation I plan to move to Selma, Alabama and spend a year teaching in the local school system as well as continue to work with the Freedom Foundation and serve the community there. I plan on attending graduate school, where I will either pursue Law or Sociology.
