

Lindsey Hoyt

Home Town: Forsyth, GA

High School: Homeschool, Veritas Classical School

Honors:

Brief Bio:

All through high school, I knew I would be attending Gordon, lovingly referred to as "Kinder-Gordon" by those who had gone before me. Being twenty-five minutes from my house assuming there are no slow semis in front of me and costing a fraction of the other local colleges, it has always been the logical choice. At student orientation, I was informed of the Honors program and, impressed by Dr. Janssen's spiel, applied. Two years in, I have built strong friendships with students, experienced thought provoking classes under the instruction of excellent professors, added "Honors program" to my "Must Have" list for my college search, and dispelled any personal connection of Gordon to kindergarten.

Though Gordon does not have the major that I am pursuing long term, it was definitely not a second-rate stop along the way. Thanks to the in-depth classes, connections, and life goals I have made here, I feel fully prepared for my transfer to another college (hoping for Samford University down the road), where I will be pursuing a degree in non-profit marketing. I can only hope that wherever I end up next has professors as student-minded and as tightly-knit a community of students.