I have been at Gordon State for almost one year pursuing a degree in History with a teaching certification. During this time, I have met many great people and professors. In just one semester there were many diverse experiences that I will never forget. Many of these great memories happened in an honors class. During my first semester, my last class was Dr. Winters' honors history class. After a long day at Gordon, ending my day in an honors class was very relaxing. It was relaxing because I was surrounded by people who thought the same way. Because of Dr. Winters, Dr. Flatt and Dr. Corley, I will never forget my first semester at Gordon State.

Now during my second semester at Gordon State, I have become comfortable with the campus and the faculty. This semester I am thoroughly enjoying my classes. I am now taking multiple history classes and was lucky enough to get Dr. Janssen as my English 1102 professor. As I talk about the awesome faculty at Gordon State, I would be disappointed with myself if I did not mention Dr. Best and Dr. Johnson. Dr. Best and Dr. Johnson are history professors, and they teach the most laid back yet informative classes. Dr. Johnson's class is hilarious, but at the same time she is able to be very informative on the material. This semester I am also taking another class in the field of Sociology. Taking this class has made me consider acquiring a minor in Sociology. Looking at my future here at Gordon State, I am very glad I have chosen to come to Gordon State and join the Honors program.
